Based on the “Learn To Earn - sit to say please” programme of Dr Sophia Yin (veterinarian) classes use positive, treat based reward training and toys and games developed by Dr Ian Dunbar and others to help dogs learn through positive and fun experiences.

STOP JUMPING! IMPROVE THE SIT WORKSHOP

Saturday 24th March, 2018: 10.00 until 12.30 - Stanton Community Village Hall, Old Bury Road, Stanton, Bury St Edmunds IP31 2BX. Family Friendly, Wheelchair Access, Good Parking.

£30.00 per dog - 2 hours plus short break

The workshop is held over 2 x 1 hour sessions with a break in between and will help dogs learn to be part of the decision making process and start working on self control. Jumping up and leash pulling are all part of impulsiveness and owners will gain various techniques to help their dogs learn automatic sits. Although not about leash pulling, the techniques learnt will also start to address this and help give practical tasks to help owners help their dogs understand that they will only get what they want (walk/reward) when we get what we want (sit/no pulling). If we are consistent, dogs quickly learn that pulling or jumping isn't the right answer. When a dog is sitting, he can't be doing 101 other things he shouldn't! The class also builds the start of the emergency “sit” command - often a better and more sensible option than the emergency recall.

Workshop includes - Learn to Earn info, guidance and how to use it in more depth, written homework & information on what we cover during the morning along with video clips. Participants will be videoed so that clips can be used for feedback and homework at the end of the workshop.

Details about what to bring with you and class format will be sent on booking along with some simple class prep so that you can get the most from your workshop. Stanton is an ideal location:

Bury St Edmunds - 22 minutes
Stowmarket - 22 minutes
Diss - 21 minutes
Thetford - 19 Minutes

This class is for dogs that are dog social - max 8 per class.
